"Please" is a shortened form of "If you please". Therefore, "Will you, please" means that you are asking if somebody will do something for you. You are adding "please" to be polite. However if you say "May you" you are merely enquiring if somebody is able to do something, so "please" is irrelevant.

Certainly "May I have" will be perceived as more formal and courteous, but "Can I get" will not necessarily be perceived as rude, depending on the tone of voice. "Could I get" is even better, though, or "Could I have". Omitting "please" in any such request might sound a tad rude, admittedly. It also may depend whereabouts in the world you are.
